

Rental Agreement

Today, the under-signed, have given my son-in-law, Antti Mayra, three cows (animals) for rent for the period of one year, beginning from the 1st day of November, 1933, and ending the same day the following year.

For the rental price we have agreed on 100 marks for each cow for one year; that is to say, 300 marks total.

The total sum is due, by the latest, two months before the expiration of the end of the rental agreement.

If there is accidental damage to the animals, then the damage is to be covered by the renter and the owner. Each will pay half. Otherwise, the renter is to take care of the cows as his own during the rental period. And if something unusual happens to the cows during the rental agreement, the owner shall be notified immediately. In that case, the owner has the right to take the animals back any time during the rental agreement, if we don't agree otherwise.

There are two of these rental agreements: one for the renter and one for the owner.
